

WALL ST. "MYSTERY" FORMS TANGO TRUST

Circuit Like Vaudeville's to Supply Hotels with Glide Artists.

PUTS NIMBLE FEET ON BUSINESS BASIS

Summer Resorts Will Get Weekly Change of Teams, but No Hat Pirate Scheme.

The "tango trust" is the latest. Within a few days incorporation papers will be filed at Albany for a company which proposes to "corner" the leading exponents of the ART, as they describe it, to contract for the privileges of running tango hotels, and to arrange to provide hotels in other cities and in the country and at the seaside with the services of those who have gained fame through the exercise of nimble feet in the "jardins" and "palais de danse" that dot the metropolis.

As planned, the new corporation will be something of a cross between the "hat check trust" that now operates in many of the principal hotels of the city, and the United Booking Offices, which supply vaudeville acts for theatres. The better class of city hotels and places of entertainment are already being besieged for contracts and privileges, "star" dancers are being interested, and, within a short time, according to James Powers—the "mystery" of Wall Street, "not the actor—the corporation will be in full swing.

"It is a big proposition," said Mr. Powers to a Tribune reporter yesterday, "and there is a lot of money in it. One outfit of dancers that now has the privilege at one of the hotels is cleaning up $20,000 a month. Others are doing pretty nearly as well. We're going to put it all on a business basis and make more money for everybody.

"One of the swiftest hotels in town has already booked with us, and with that for a starter we are going to get a lot of other big houses here, in other cities and at the summer resorts into line. If you think New York is crazy over the new dances, you won't know what to think when the summer places open. There will not be enough high class talent to go around, with the various resorts bidding against one another.

"A hotel on our list can have one or more noted dancing teams this week and advertise another team for the next. Some hotels will probably keep one team all season, but others will prefer a change just as in the vaudeville circuit.

"There is no use wasting a lot of time dickering for engagements when the thing can be arranged with a minimum of effort. The Castles won't be with us—I believe they are going abroad—but they are not the only top liners, and we shall have the best.

"We won't hire bandits to hold people up the way the hat check people do."

Mr. Powers has been in Wall Street for more than a generation. He has the entrée to private offices that even members of the Stock Exchange have difficulty in securing admission to, and knows almost everybody. Many men have tried to find out something about him, but none have made much progress.

CLEANING UP THE CITY—REFUSE AT CANAL ST.

BRIDAL COUPLE DROWNED

College Student and Bride Were Taking Canoe Trip.

Chicago, May 19.—Gordon H. Higgins, a student at Northwestern Academy, and his bride of a few hours, Mrs. Verle Stewart Higgins, daughter of Dr. Harry Stewart, of Kewanee, Ill., were drowned today when the canoe in which they had started on a honeymoon trip overturned in the Chicago Drainage Canal.

Mrs. Higgins had been a student of voice culture here, and was about to return to Kewanee to-day after completing her course.

DESERT ARSENAL PARK HEAD ORDERS

Bureau Offices There to Move to Municipal Building on Saturday.

There was excitement in the Park Department offices in the Arsenal yesterday morning when notices were received by heads of the different bureaus from Cabot Ward, Park Commissioner, advising them to get ready to move to the Municipal Building on Saturday. When Mr. Ward first announced, several months ago, his plans to move downtown there was little sympathy for the idea among the heads of the bureaus and the rank and file.

"This is where the Bureau plan falls," said one employee yesterday. "It is all well enough to say the rank and file should make suggestions to their superiors, but if the rank and file did it now it would show they believed the park was the place for the park offices. There isn't a man here that I know of who would be willing to sign his name to such a suggestion at this time for fear of getting in bad."

The maintenance of the Arsenal in Central Park, it was learned yesterday from records of the department, has cost between $16,000 and $18,000 a year. As yet Commissioner Ward has made no announcement as to what he intends doing with the vacant space in the structure.

It will have to be maintained because the police occupy the first floor, and the heating plant in the basement that makes the "coppers" comfortable in chilly weather also keeps the monkeys in the menagerie in good humor.

Members of the National Academy Association, including its president, John V. Alexander, still have a longing for the Arsenal site.

"PAUPER" CARRIED $3,380

This in Bills, with Bankbooks Showing $50,000 More.

For twelve years patrons of Schirmer's Hotel, 262 Bowery, have been accustomed to regard Carl Schmidt, who during that time occupied a small room there, as an "allowance man," or pensioner; one who was provided with just sufficient funds to supply modest needs.

Their astonishment was great last night when they discovered that instead of being a near-pauper he was wealthy.

Last night he staggered into the hotel and collapsed near the clerk's desk. He was sent to St. Vincent's Hospital. When his pockets were searched $3,380 in bills were discovered along with bank books which showed he had deposits amounting to $50,000.

Schmidt is seventy-eight years old. No one has been found who knows anything of his history.

A small, uninsulated copper wire, running from the third floor of the Criminal Courts Building diagonally across Franklin to the top of the Simmons Building, on Centre st., caused all the trouble. According to the attaches of Mr. Whitman's office, ten reporters and one regulation sleuth, there could be no legitimate reason for stringing up such a wire. It was decided that the only proper course was to hold an investigation.

After calling the roll and finding every one present or accounted for, the party followed the wire from the Simmons Building to a tenement house on Franklin st. From there it went over the block to 136 Centre st.

The party surged up the stairs and almost frightened a superannuated janitor out of ten years' growth. Search failed to reveal a den of deep-dyed wire tappers, and it was suggested that perhaps the wire went still further.

HIGH HAT GOES IN CLEAN-UP PILE

Owner Fears Joker Got "Stovepipe"—Ragpickers Scatter Rubbish in Streets.

The loss of a high hat was the only incident to mar the record of the second day of the clean-up campaign. From a complaint made to the Department of Health yesterday a resident of the lower East Side had missed his "stovepipe," and was certain it was added to the mountains of rubbish by a practical joker.

Because of the attention being given to rubbish piles by ragpickers, the health officials asked the police to stop occupants of houses from dumping stuff on the curbs and in the gutters, as in many cases ragpickers and junkmen were scattering it all over the street.

Street Cleaning Department officials reported that, as on the first day, yesterday's removal of trash showed conclusively that the city had been unusually clean in the last year.

The report to the health authorities showed that Brooklyn had an increase of 150 loads over the average day's clean-up. The smooth management of the campaign is pleasing to the two city departments most vitally interested. Scowmen have been able to get away with the piles of refuse without any trouble. Last year they were swamped, and for a time it was impossible to meet the situation.

"There's some difference in moving the rubbish that has accumulated in twelve months and the rubbish that had accumulated from the time of the Dutch settlers in 1913," one health official said.

WIFE OF SULZER'S BROKER WINS SUIT

Mrs. John Boyd Gray Obtains Separation, Though the Court Criticises Temperament.

Justice Cohan granted a separation yesterday to Mrs. Justice Sutton Gray from John Boyd Gray, of the Stock Exchange firm of Fuller & Gray, who acted as brokers for William Sulzer, when the former Governor speculated in the stock market. The court awarded Mrs. Gray $20 a week alimony.

Mrs. Gray, who remarried her husband after she had divorced him, alleged cruelty, non-support and abandonment. Justice Cohan, however, dismissed the charge of cruel and inhuman treatment brought by the wife, granting the separation on the ground of abandonment and non-support.

In his decision Justice Cohan said that the wife was a woman of nervous disposition, "given to hysterics, and when in such condition apparently neither responsible for nor aware of her acts."

"How far the defendant aggravated this condition," the decision continues, "is an open question. The plaintiff did much to foment differences, and is not free from blame."

However, the court decided Gray made no effort to return to his wife, nor had he invited her to rejoin him, and therefore she was entitled to a separation.

SLEUTHS TRAIL "DICTAGRAPH" WIRE FROM WHITMAN'S OFFICE

Excited Party Follow It to Simmons Building, Across Block, Over Street and Down, to Messenger Boys' Headquarters.

There was almost a mystery at District Attorney Whitman's office yesterday. Hush while we tell about the wire tappers and their nefarious plans to overhear the official conversations of the District Attorney by using a dictagraph connected with his telephone.

A small, uninsulated copper wire, running from the third floor of the Criminal Courts Building diagonally across Franklin to the top of the Simmons Building, on Centre st., caused all the trouble. According to the attaches of Mr. Whitman's office, ten reporters and one regulation sleuth, there could be no legitimate reason for stringing up such a wire. It was decided that the only proper course was to hold an investigation.

After calling the roll and finding every one present or accounted for, the party followed the wire from the Simmons Building to a tenement house on Franklin st. From there it went over the block to 136 Centre st.

The party surged up the stairs and almost frightened a superannuated janitor out of ten years' growth. Search failed to reveal a den of deep-dyed wire tappers, and it was suggested that perhaps the wire went still further.

ALIMONY BEATS DEATH

Husband Saved from River Didn't "Get Even."

Storm King, May 19.—Despondent because he had to provide more alimony with less pay, Arthur Lingier, of Jones Point, leaped from a barge and tried to drown himself in the Hudson River here to-day.

Louis Boecklin dived in after the would-be suicide, but had to beat him insensible before he could rescue him.

The courts increased the weekly allowance Lingier was paying his wife from $8 to $7, and three days later his pay as baking foreman was cut down $120 a week. Lingier wrote a note to his wife, reading: "Here's where I get even. I'm going to do away with myself. Now you won't get a cent."

PRIEST ATTACKS COURTHOUSE PLANS

Father Evers Argues Against Proposed Site—Realty Head Opposed to Cost.

The only note of real objection to the McAneny plan for a new site for the recrud courthouse at yesterday's hearing in the City Hall came from Father Evers, rector of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Church, and some of its members. Mr. McAneny's new plan involves the taking of St. Andrew's, which is just within the boundaries of the new site.

Against the objection of the church and the Real Estate Board of New York, which was represented by Laurence M. D. McGuire, who held that the new site might prove to be enormously costly in laying foundations, a large number of prominent citizens, as representatives of the various civic organizations, supported Mr. McAneny.

The first speaker in opposition to the plans was Frank W. Smith, of the New York Federation of Catholic Societies, who outlined the activities of St. Andrew's Church. Then came Father Evers. He urged that nothing be done that would involve the church until Cardinal Farley returned from Rome.

L. Laffin Kellogg, who represented the courthouse board, spoke in favor of the new plan, as did Martin W. Littleton, Herman Ridder, John De Witt Warner, Paul D. Cravath and others.

NEAR-PUNCH NEARLY SERVED TO MALONE

Negro Democrat, a Murphy Enthusiast, Calls Collector "Ingrate"—Aids Prevent Fight.

Collector Dudley Field Malone and Robert N. Wood, president of the New York State Colored Democracy, came within an ace of punching each other in Collector Malone's office yesterday, when Wood called the Collector an "ingrate" because he closed the door of the Custom House against Murphy Democrats. Wood, who weighs 285 pounds, was hustled to the elevators by attendants in Mr. Malone's office.

Wood was accompanied by two friends in the negro Democracy of New York County. He asked first about places in the Custom House and Collector Malone said they were all filled. Then Wood wanted to know about special agents' jobs.

"Now, see here, Wood," said the Collector, "are you for Mr. Murphy?"

"I'm for him, and so are all of my constituents. You can't get five enrolled Democrats in this city to go against Mr. Murphy, because he treats them square."

"Well, you can't get anything in this office as long as you are for Murphy," snapped the Collector.

"That's all I could expect from an ingrate," shouted Wood, jumping out of his chair. "All you've got you owe to Murphy; you"—But Mr. Wood didn't finish, on account of the rush toward the elevator.

CHARGES RAKE UP PAST

Lodging House Superintendent Accused on Old Record.

In the charges preferred against William C. Yorke, for eighteen years superintendent of the Municipal Lodging House, by Deputy Commissioner Wright, of the Department of Charities, it is asserted that Yorke back in the '70s and '80s pleaded guilty to the charge of keeping a disorderly house and of selling lottery tickets, was convicted of maintaining a gambling house and was arrested and tried on a number of similar charges.

It is specified that in failing to tell these things Mr. Yorke was guilty of fraud and deception in making out his civil service papers in 1910.

The charge also recites alleged delinquencies on the part of Yorke in connection with his management of the lodging house.

ROCKEFELLER BACK; I. W. W. SIEGE RAISED

Financier Returns to Desk After 19 Days of Illness and Worry.

"MOTHER" JONES NOW CHIEF TORMENTOR

Statement That Oil King's Son Is Afraid to Interview Her Denied.

For the first time in nineteen days John D. Rockefeller, Jr., cured of his "cold" and up to his ears in work, is back at his desk in the "Standard Oil Building," whence Sinclair's "mourners" drove him the first of May. Since his recovery to Pocomtoco most of his tormentors have been silenced or placed in jail.

Upton Sinclair is in Colorado. Marie Ganz is on Blackwell's Island for six months. So is Bouck White, who broke up the service at the Calvary Baptist Church ten days ago, and with him is Milo Woolman, an anarchist and I. W. W. Becky Edelson and Sam Hartman are still about, but their talk lacks "punch" and the crowds do not respond. The Church of the Social Revolution is still flickering.

"Mother" Jones, alone of the agitators, has stuck to her guns, denouncing Rockefeller at nightly meetings. She declares Rockefeller is afraid to see her, and that her request for an interview was refused without even being read.

This, however, Mr. Heydt, secretary to the financier, denied.

"If 'Mother' Jones comes to the office she will be treated courteously," he said, "and get a hearing. Her letter was not opened because it is the invariable custom of the office to open no letter sent by registered mail unless it bears the sender's name on the outside. Hers didn't."

"She can't see Mr. Rockefeller himself, however. He's too busy—and it would do no good. He's a minority stockholder in the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and can't influence its dealings with the miners, etc."

"No, he's not making any personal investigation of conditions out there. Why should he?"

"He will not comment on the sentence imposed on White, but he stands behind Dr. Woolfkin and the church. He has been much affected by the things said and printed concerning him."

GIRLS TRY TRAIN THEFTS

Two Escape, but Special Policeman Captures One, Aged 13.

While on duty in the New Haven Railroad yards, at Willis av. and 132d st., last night, Special Officer John Whaley saw three girls trying to break into a car containing thousands of dollars' worth of wines. He caught Elizabeth Weber, thirteen years old, of 339 East 125th st.

One of the girls, Whaley told the police, appeared to be about twenty-one, and he thought she was the leader of the gang. There has been a number of thefts of wines, liquors and cigars in the yards.

SEES LOSS IN PLAN TO LIMIT BUILDINGS

Dr. Berg Hints at Validity Test if Put in Practice—Many at Hearing.

Mayor Mitchell and other members of the Board of Estimate held a special hearing yesterday on the question of appointing a commission to regulate the height of buildings and to divide the city into districts with relation to such regulation. A large crowd of persons interested attended. Mr. McAneny, on the invitation of the Mayor, said at the outset that nothing would be done precipitately in regulating the height of buildings.

"I want to make it clear," he said, "that we are going to have a session of careful inquiry. It is something that is going to take months, probably a year or more. There has been a lot of silly talk about the desire to make changes without giving the fullest publicity. Nothing is to be done except in the broadest and fairest possible way."

A majority of those who appeared, including real estate men, representatives of title companies and civic organizations, favored the appointment of the commission as a help toward the solution of the problem. Edward M. Bassett, ex-Public Service Commissioner, marshalled a long array of speakers in favor of the Estimate Board's resolution.

Lawson Purdy, Tax Commissioner, thought the attempt to regulate the height of buildings by law was based on the same principles underlying private restrictions which were intended to conserve realty values. The preemption of light by adjoining buildings had converted a large number of formerly profitable skyscrapers south of Chambers st. into properties which are at present a dead loss, he said.

Among those who opposed the appointment of the commission was Dr. Henry Berg, who represented the United Real Estate Owners' Association. He said that the proposition to divide the city into building districts was another move in the direction of governmental interference with the property owners' rights that would cause the remaining vestige of profit in real ownership to vanish. He intimated that the constitutionality of the question would be raised.

ACCUSE 3 OF VOTE FRAUDS

One Held in $2,500 Bail by Supreme Court Justice.

Three more arrests yesterday followed the investigation by the grand jury of the fraudulent voting in the 5th Election District of the 12th Assembly District at the recent constitutional convention election. Henry Hogan, of 419 East 14th st.; William Wertheimer, of 599 East 12th st., and William Sweeney, of 427 East 17th st., were arrested.

Hogan, against whom there are fifteen indictments, was held in $2,500 bail by Justice Seabury, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court.

PAY FOR CITY WARRIORS

Aldermen Would Grant Leave of Absence for Volunteers.

Following a precedent set in the Spanish war, in 1898, there was introduced in the Board of Aldermen yesterday a resolution that in case the President called for volunteers for the army and navy such city employees as enlisted should receive their pay under leave of absence. Under the rules the resolution was referred to committee, but undoubtedly will be passed when reported out.

The resolution granting to every city employee a two weeks' vacation with pay was passed yesterday. Discretion was left with the department heads, however, as to the time the per diem employees should get their two weeks. In some cases it is likely to be in the winter, when work is slack.

COLORADO NAMES MEDIATION COUNCIL

Legislature Would End Miners' Strike—Judge Lindsey to See Wilson.

[By Telegraph to the Tribune.] Denver, May 19.—To mediate, not investigate, the differences between the coal operators and the strikers, is the purpose of the committee named by the special session of the Legislature to aid the executive branch of the government in ending Colorado's industrial strife.

To-day, however, three days before the first scheduled meeting, the legislators ran against a snag which may wreck the craft of mediation. Attorney General Frank E. Gove, former state Senator, speaking on behalf of the coal operators, said:

"We have nothing to arbitrate, compromise or mediate. We always have contended this, and we see no reason to change our attitude because of the appointment of a legislative committee. Our books are open to the committee."

Attorney Horace N. Hawkins, counsel for the United Mine Workers, said: "The mine workers always have been willing to submit any differences to a board of arbitration—that is, if it is a fair board. We do not want our differences adjusted by a partial and unfair tribunal. I don't know the members of this committee and do not know whether the mine workers will accept them as mediators or not."

Counsel for the United Mine Workers announced to-day that no effort would be made to attack the constitutionality of the $100,000 bond bill. President John McAneny of District 15, United Mine Workers, refused to-day to produce any witnesses before the court martial at the state rifle range. He said the feeling was such he deemed it inadvisable. The trial of Major Hamrock was delayed on account of railroad washouts, which prevented the arrival of witnesses.

Chicago, May 19.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, and five women from Colorado passed through Chicago to-day on their way to Washington to beg President Wilson to end the strike.

Boston, May 19.—The municipal court was occupied to-day with a ball controversy. Eddie Collins, crack second baseman of the Athletics, gave Earl S.
